

AGNETA DOLMAN

ARTIST BIO

Agneta Dolman was born in Stockholm and is educated in linguistics, graphic design and drawing. It would perhaps be no surprise that the artist would merge her experiences in mark-making with the natural wonder of the outdoors. Concentrating on Northern Ontario or in the landscape of Gotland Sweden, you get a sense that she is steeped in the traditions of mark-making, especially the watercolourists and calligraphic artists of Japan.

Agneta received training in 1964 at the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts' School and Design, where she studied drawing, painting, sculpture, illustration and commercial art. She also studied graphic design and commercial art at Anders Beckmans Reklamskola in Stockholm. When she immigrated to London, Ontario in 1971, she earned an educational degree from Althouse College, and studied printmaking at H.B. Beal secondary school and Western University.
