ARTIST BIO

Marcy Saddy is a London, Canada born artist whose work is characterized by layers, texture and collage. Educated at Fanshawe Fine Art and in NYC punk in the late 70's, she is musician as well as a painter. When she paints abstracts, Marcy tries to reach an intuitive creativity that relates to the "in the moment" state of jamming in music.

Marcy layers her work using stencils, fabric, sheet music, and words. Her current head studies are executed quickly over collage with a palette knife to create texture and immediacy.
